

THE DAILY DEMOCRAT,

EDITION AND PUBLISHED BY HARNEY, HUGHES & CO.,
THIRD STREET,
East side, between Market and Jefferson streets.

SPECIAL ADVERTISING NOTICE.—A1 advertisements of public meetings, Masonic, Odd Fellows, &c., are inserted at one-half the regular rates against the first insertion, and twenty-five cents each subsequent insertion.

Wanted, Relievers, Charitable, Marriage, and Obituary Notices, of five lines or less, are charged twenty-five cents each insertion.

Advertisements published in the morning paper receive preference over those in the evening paper.

ALL TRANSACT ADVERTISEMENTS PAYABLE IN ADVANCE.

FRIDAY, MAY 10, 1850

NATIONAL HOME TAD ADVERTISING.

If you wish to command a fair share of our readers' custom, now is the time to advertise. Spring is upon us, and everybody is looking around to find where they can buy to the best advantage. Don't expect them to go from one street to another. Hundreds have not time, and they read the advertisements in the Democrat and directly to buy. If your advertisement is not in the Democrat, you may lose many chances to sell hundreds road our paper every day. Our circulation in the city is increasing very rapidly, and in the country at an unprecedented rate.

The Democrat has the largest circulation west of the mountains among Democratic papers, and, at the present rate of increase, will soon have more subscribers than any paper published in the valley of the Mississippi. Our terms are moderate to men. Every business man owes it to himself to increase his business as much as possible, and the best way to accomplish that end, is to advertise in the Democrat, which is universally read in the city and country.

Whom the Gods intend to Destroy they first make Mad.

Since the passage of the Kansas-Nebraska bill a party in the Free States have made the most strenuous efforts to disturb the regular operation of that measure. It was expected and intended that the emigrants to Kansas and Nebraska, prompted by the common motives of pioneers, should be left undisturbed to work out their own institutions to suit themselves; and this has been realized for one of the Territories—Nebraska.

The people of that Territory have not been interfered with by the politicians of the States, and they have moved onward in peace and prosperity. Kansas has not been so fortunate. All over the North the press, the pulpit, and the basing have been exercised about the business of the settlers in that region. Treason has been openly counseled and advised, and arms openly forwarded to aid rebellion against the laws of the Territory. But our purpose is avowed by this party in its struggle for power, and that is to make Kansas a Free State. They are not satisfied to leave immigrants to that Territory to act unbiased in their own affairs, and abide their verdict. They must interfere, lest Kansas become a Slave State. To prevent such a result, civil war, violence, and blood are invoked—disorders, lawlessness, and crime encouraged and protected.

Now we submit to any sober man, although he may prefer a Free to a Slave State, if the end to be attained is worth the cost of such means, to say nothing of their inherent sinfulness. Suppose Kansas does become, as her neighbor Missouri, a Slave State, how much damage will be done?

What business has a political party in New England, New York, or elsewhere, to manage and control the affairs of Kansas to suit themselves? Who made us responsible for the institutions of a Territory thousands of miles from them?

The means and appliances of this party have been as extravagant and absurd as they have been unscrupulous. They inspire as much contempt as indignation. The howl raised over the failure of the Missouri Compromise—that it was specially designed to make Kansas a Slave State, that it was an attempt to subjugate the Free States to the Slave power, contrary to the terms of the act itself—and the矢aws of its authors to both sections of the Union, was itself an outrage. The corrupt combinations with discordant factions to carry out their purpose, the confused jargon of counsel, and the stupefying tisus of incompatible propositions, indicated the existence of a blind move, ready for any way to revenge, whether it lead to the end or not. The history of Roeder's operations in Kansas presents a series of inconsistencies and follies, followed by mass meetings in open rebellion to the laws. A party getting up a State Constitution made by a bogus Convention, and Senators elected by a bogus Legislature, is worthy of the disreputable means to bring the result about; and to finish if the absurdity, the document sent on Congress, purporting to come from the Kansas Convention, is without the responsibility of its framers, and preceded by a preamble insulting to Congress in its denial of the authority of the government established by that body—denying recognition as a revolutionary right. Then the bears of the document withdraws the offensive affair, revises and alters it, and changes the defiant preamble into a humble petition, "by virtue of the authority vested in him." An absurd ending to a series of absurdities.

Ten thousand arrests of some of the ring-leaders for treason, and the flight of others; the assassination of the Sheriff is cold blood in the performance of his duty. A few trials for treason, impositions, and perhaps the application of a hanging cord or two, will end the folly and wickedness urged by a set of unscrupulous demagogues and worthless scoundrels.

It requires some talent to manage a scheme of knavery for a party purpose on so large a scale systematically; but there seems to have been none in this Anti-Kansas-Nebraska movement. It is a bundle of disgusting crimes, felonies, and absurdities from first to last—enough to ruin a good cause, much more a bad one. Those who desire to see Kansas a Free State have reason to execrate the conduct of the vicious and selfish intermediaries who took the business in charge, and ruined it as far as could rain it.

The South have looked on this Kansas embroilment without manifesting much interest in it. They can now look with as much amusement and indignation at the tangled web in which the conspirators have involved themselves. They have done no good for the Anti-Nebraska movement; they have damaged it. Good men of all parties will rejoice at their discomfiture and banishment from the political arena, so that in peace their own domestic policy, for a Slave or Free State, as their interests or preferences may lead them, without the interference of meddling politicians, who have party and selfish ends to answer, without any regard to the interests of Kansas.

As the case now stands, the follies and crimes of the assumed Free State champions have disposed of them. The Free State party will be glad to disown such antecedents as the late conspirators have provided for them.

The editor of the Journal makes a remarkable statement in the course of the explanation he gives of his own connection with the Cincinnati and Little Rock State Company.

He says that Professor Warden was President; Col. W. H. Taylor, son-in-law and nephew of Gen. Garrison, Secretary, and Robert Buchanan, Moses Brooks, Henry Bosley, Rev. Jeremiah Barnes, and others, highly respectable gentlemen of Cincinnati, were Directors. We rather suspect that the agency of these gentlemen in that institution, if it existed at all, must have been prior to the period when Stickney proposed to engage the editor of the Journal, with five thousand dollars of the stock, to puff its notes and stock into credit.

It does not appear on the trial at Memphis, so far as we have seen, that any one of the above-named gentlemen, or, indeed, any one else having any character to lose, was associated with the concern. The management of it, as disclosed, presents as hideous a picture of deliberate fraud and villainy as we have ever met.

The man on trial was held to bail in the sum of $8,000 for trial under the criminal charge of blaspheming me under false pretenses. The Cincinnati and Little Rock State Company have been passed into other hands than those above named before these transactions occurred.

"An editor is in a bad way when his party interest renders it necessary to misrepresent his party prospects. The Fillmore and Donelson editors are just now in that predicament. The faithful, when it dawned upon them, would begin to see the errors and follies of a worthless concern that can't pay, and abandon it in haste. Every observer who looks over the political arena in the different States, sees that the Know Nothing ticket has a slender chance of appearing at all in the Electoral College for the next Presidency. The chances are not even equal to scattering. The old line Abolitionists are threatening to take the field, not satisfied even with the Republicans; and if they put up a ticket, the chances are, that they will not be far behind the Fillmore and Douglass quad. The party of the latter last year carried Kentucky and Maryland, and by a coalition of parties got about one-third of the vote of New York, and thereby elected some of their candidates. Since then they have been a rapid decline."

The partnership of Know Nothing and Black-Radicals, which did such wonders in 1854, is dissolved in the Free States; the latter setting up for themselves, fitly ignoring Know-Nothingism. They have mastered under their banner the mass of the opposition to the Democracy, including quandem disciples of Sam, and will make no compromises with their ally of 1854. They intend to make a nomination of their own, and will in no event support the Know-Nothing ticket. The Fillmore men of the Free States are looking round for a party, and see but a scattering individual here and there, with an awful conviction of loneliness. It begins to be doubtful if a Fillmore electoral ticket will be formed in most of the Free States, whilst its lack of support is not at all doubtful in any of them. No man who is at all posted up as to the condition of parties, will honestly say that Fillmore has the smallest chance for more than three or four States, and no certain prospect of one. Indeed, his chance to get a single State is not greater than the chance that he will lose every one of them; whilst the prospect of his losing twenty-seven out of thirty-one is as certain as any future event.

We affirm, moreover, that there is not a Know-Nothing editor who doesn't know all this, if he has sense enough to see an inch before his nose; it is too plain a case to be mistaken. He may live in hopes of a miracle, or some extraordinary event in the chapter of accidents, to cast a ray of light on the dark prospect, but all sober calculations give Fillmore about as much chance to get a respectable show next November as he has to be struck with lightning about that time. A Know-Nothing editor, however, can't afford to say so; he must stoutly maintain that the skies are bright and cheery; that Fillmore is making for the Presidency with full speed, when in fact he is being struck with lightning about that time.

The editor of the Journal has the shamelessness to refer to his Sand Creek lie again, and thus reminds his readers of his loathsome effusion of falsehood and blasphemy. Well, it is the first symptom we have seen: that his stock of lies is not inexhaustible; for if he had any more in hand, he would hardly have tucked up this former spewing, to spit it out again.

The new wheat crop of Ohio is said to be remarkably promising.

Many thanks to the fine passenger packet, H. D. Newcomb, for late New Orleans paper.

The Indiana paper claims that State for the Democratic nominees next Fall, by a majority of at least 20,000.

Rising Sun, Ind., has been infested for several weeks by a gang of thieves.

We learn from the Maysville Eagle, that on Friday last, at Murphyville, William Sullivan deliberately shot David R. Wells in the arm near the elbow, for some trifling provocation done in playfulness. Sullivan made his escape.

We see that the Rev. Mr. Scudder, who has charge of the editorial department of the Maysville Eagle during the illness of its regular editor, uses the word anti-American as applicable to the Democratic party, with great flippancy. The "deceit" is not all confined to the laity.

John F. Parry was drowned about the 14th of April in the Alabama river. His body has been found. He is believed to have been a native of the State of Maine. His relations living in this city. For further information apply to Wm. Farley, Mobile, Ala.

L. O. O. F.—The members of Charlestown Lodge, No. 74, at Charlestown, Ind., will have a celebration on Saturday, the 17th inst. The cost will be one of interest to the brotherhood. The ladies of that place will present to the Lodge a beautiful Bible, and an address will be delivered by Geo. W. Morris, of this city.

This is precisely the truth. Let us see if there is a Know-Nothing editor in the State who can afford to confute it. We do n't expect him to do so publicly, but let the friends of any one of them take him aside and ask him if what we have said is not true; put him on his honor, if he has any, and see if he can look a white man straight in the face and deny a word of it. Ask him to write down his opinion to the contrary, and mark his name and his address; then he knows it is not true.

Mr. Scudder is to be commended for his frankness and candor. The editor of the Maysville Eagle is a man of the same grade—of consequences, even as a wise old sage.

The following paragraph is taken from the column of the National Register:

On Friday last, in this city, evidently at a party canary nut, taking about $11,000, with the Memphis & Little Rock railroad, and the Memphis & Cincinnati line company. —Leavenworth Journal.

No number of men; they are not so foolish.

This thought would be even more silly than that of attempting to kill gold refined, or add perfume to the rose. Annoy the Journal, by exposing its baseless and absurd as they have been unscrupulous. They inspire as much contempt as indignation. The howl raised over the failure of the Missouri Compromise—that it was specially designed to make Kansas a Slave State, that it was an attempt to subjugate the Free States to the Slave power, contrary to the terms of the act itself—and the矢aws of its authors to both sections of the Union, was itself an outrage.

The means and appliances of this party have been as extravagant and absurd as they have been unscrupulous. They inspire as much contempt as indignation. The howl raised over the failure of the Missouri Compromise—that it was specially designed to make Kansas a Slave State, that it was an attempt to subjugate the Free States to the Slave power, contrary to the terms of the act itself—and the矢aws of its authors to both sections of the Union, was itself an outrage.

They are not satisfied to leave immigrants to that Territory to act unbiased in their own affairs, and abide their verdict. They must interfere, lest Kansas become a Slave State. To prevent such a result, civil war, violence, and blood are invoked—disorders, lawlessness, and crime encouraged and protected.

Now we submit to any sober man, although he may prefer a Free to a Slave State, if the end to be attained is worth the cost of such means, to say nothing of their inherent sinfulness.

Suppose Kansas does become, as her neighbor Missouri, a Slave State, how much damage will be done?

What business has a political party in New England, New York, or elsewhere, to manage and control the affairs of Kansas to suit themselves?

Who made us responsible for the institutions of a Territory thousands of miles from them?

The means and appliances of this party have been as extravagant and absurd as they have been unscrupulous. They inspire as much contempt as indignation. The howl raised over the failure of the Missouri Compromise—that it was specially designed to make Kansas a Slave State, that it was an attempt to subjugate the Free States to the Slave power, contrary to the terms of the act itself—and the矢aws of its authors to both sections of the Union, was itself an outrage.

They are not satisfied to leave immigrants to that Territory to act unbiased in their own affairs, and abide their verdict. They must interfere, lest Kansas become a Slave State. To prevent such a result, civil war, violence, and blood are invoked—disorders, lawlessness, and crime encouraged and protected.

Now we submit to any sober man, although he may prefer a Free to a Slave State, if the end to be attained is worth the cost of such means, to say nothing of their inherent sinfulness.

Suppose Kansas does become, as her neighbor Missouri, a Slave State, how much damage will be done?

What business has a political party in New England, New York, or elsewhere, to manage and control the affairs of Kansas to suit themselves?

Who made us responsible for the institutions of a Territory thousands of miles from them?

The means and appliances of this party have been as extravagant and absurd as they have been unscrupulous. They inspire as much contempt as indignation. The howl raised over the failure of the Missouri Compromise—that it was specially designed to make Kansas a Slave State, that it was an attempt to subjugate the Free States to the Slave power, contrary to the terms of the act itself—and the矢aws of its authors to both sections of the Union, was itself an outrage.

They are not satisfied to leave immigrants to that Territory to act unbiased in their own affairs, and abide their verdict. They must interfere, lest Kansas become a Slave State. To prevent such a result, civil war, violence, and blood are invoked—disorders, lawlessness, and crime encouraged and protected.

Now we submit to any sober man, although he may prefer a Free to a Slave State, if the end to be attained is worth the cost of such means, to say nothing of their inherent sinfulness.

Suppose Kansas does become, as her neighbor Missouri, a Slave State, how much damage will be done?

What business has a political party in New England, New York, or elsewhere, to manage and control the affairs of Kansas to suit themselves?

Who made us responsible for the institutions of a Territory thousands of miles from them?

The means and appliances of this party have been as extravagant and absurd as they have been unscrupulous. They inspire as much contempt as indignation. The howl raised over the failure of the Missouri Compromise—that it was specially designed to make Kansas a Slave State, that it was an attempt to subjugate the Free States to the Slave power, contrary to the terms of the act itself—and the矢aws of its authors to both sections of the Union, was itself an outrage.

They are not satisfied to leave immigrants to that Territory to act unbiased in their own affairs, and abide their verdict. They must interfere, lest Kansas become a Slave State. To prevent such a result, civil war, violence, and blood are invoked—disorders, lawlessness, and crime encouraged and protected.

Now we submit to any sober man, although he may prefer a Free to a Slave State, if the end to be attained is worth the cost of such means, to say nothing of their inherent sinfulness.

Suppose Kansas does become, as her neighbor Missouri, a Slave State, how much damage will be done?

What business has a political party in New England, New York, or elsewhere, to manage and control the affairs of Kansas to suit themselves?

Who made us responsible for the institutions of a Territory thousands of miles from them?

The means and appliances of this party have been as extravagant and absurd as they have been unscrupulous. They inspire as much contempt as indignation. The howl raised over the failure of the Missouri Compromise—that it was specially designed to make Kansas a Slave State, that it was an attempt to subjugate the Free States to the Slave power, contrary to the terms of the act itself—and the矢aws of its authors to both sections of the Union, was itself an outrage.

They are not satisfied to leave immigrants to that Territory to act unbiased in their own affairs, and abide their verdict. They must interfere, lest Kansas become a Slave State. To prevent such a result, civil war, violence, and blood are invoked—disorders, lawlessness, and crime encouraged and protected.

Now we submit to any sober man, although he may prefer a Free to a Slave State, if the end to be attained is worth the cost of such means, to say nothing of their inherent sinfulness.

Suppose Kansas does become, as her neighbor Missouri, a Slave State, how much damage will be done?

What business has a political party in New England, New York, or elsewhere, to manage and control the affairs of Kansas to suit themselves?

Who made us responsible for the institutions of a Territory thousands of miles from them?

The means and appliances of this party have been as extravagant and absurd as they have been unscrupulous. They inspire as much contempt as indignation. The howl raised over the failure of the Missouri Compromise—that it was specially designed to make Kansas a Slave State, that it was an attempt to subjugate the Free States to the Slave power, contrary to the terms of the act itself—and the矢aws of its authors to both sections of the Union, was itself an outrage.

They are not satisfied to leave immigrants to that Territory to act unbiased in their own affairs, and abide their verdict. They must interfere, lest Kansas become a Slave State. To prevent such a result, civil war, violence, and blood are invoked—disorders, lawlessness, and crime encouraged and protected.

Now we submit to any sober man, although he may prefer a Free to a Slave State, if the end to be attained is worth the cost of such means, to say nothing of their inherent sinfulness.

Suppose Kansas does become, as her neighbor Missouri, a Slave State, how much damage will be done?

What business has a political party in New England, New York, or elsewhere, to manage and control the affairs of Kansas to suit themselves?

Who made us responsible for the institutions of a Territory thousands of miles from them?

The means and appliances of this party have been as extravagant and absurd as they have been unscrupulous. They inspire as much contempt as indignation. The howl raised over the failure of the Missouri Compromise—that it was specially designed to make Kansas a Slave State, that it was an attempt to subjugate the Free States to the Slave power, contrary to the terms of the act itself—and the矢aws of its authors to both sections of the Union, was itself an outrage.

They are not satisfied to leave immigrants to that Territory to act unbiased in their own affairs, and abide their verdict. They must interfere, lest Kansas become a Slave State. To prevent such a result, civil war, violence, and blood are invoked—disorders, lawlessness, and crime encouraged and protected.

Now we submit to any sober man, although he may prefer a Free to a Slave State, if the end to be attained is worth the cost of such means, to say nothing of their inherent sinfulness.

Suppose Kansas does become, as her neighbor Missouri, a Slave State, how much damage will be done?

What business has a political party in New England, New York, or elsewhere, to manage and control the affairs of Kansas to suit themselves?

Who made us responsible for the institutions of a Territory thousands of miles from them?

The means and appliances of this party have been as extravagant and absurd as they have been unscrupulous. They inspire as much contempt as indignation. The howl raised over the failure of the Missouri Compromise—that it was specially designed to make Kansas a Slave State, that it was an attempt to subjugate the Free States to the Slave power, contrary to the terms of the act itself—and the矢aws of its authors

FOR SALE & RENT.

For Sale.

A LOT, HAVING ON IT A Frame Cottage, containing two rooms and a kitchen, with a back yard, and a fine stable on the lot. This property lies on the southeast corner of Madison and Fourth streets, extends back 100 feet. If not disposed of at private sale will be sold at public auction in two years.

Taxes—One-half cash, one-half in two years, with interest from date, and a lien retained.

B. BRANZ.

Paroquet Springs.

OFFER FOR LEASE, FOR A term of years, the well-known and valuable Springs, on the former Louisville and Nashville Railroad, 1½ miles south of the city. The property lies on the southeast corner of Madison and Fourth streets, and extends back 100 feet. If not disposed of at private sale will be sold at public auction in two years.

Taxes—One-half cash, one-half in two years, with interest from date, and a lien retained.

J. D. COLEMAN.

For Sale.

A DESIRABLE HOUSE AND LOT, on the corner of Eighth and Main streets, known as "The Lynn House," near the Tobacco Warehouse. This is a general, and its location is very convenient. It is a large, comfortable house, 1½ stories high, with a large front porch, and a substantial character upon the grounds. These Springs have been analyzed, and physicians and chemists have ordered. No watering place in the western country offers greater facilities for an enterprising proprietor than the Paroquet Springs.

For further particulars, apply to me at Louisville, during the day, or to Mr. J. D. COLEMAN, or Mr. Levi Taylor, Esq.

J. D. COLEMAN.

MANUFACTURES.

Carriage Making.

W. P. SHEPARD HEREBY IN-forms his friends and the public generally, that he will continue the business of coach and carriage making, at the old shop, on Main street, between First and Second, where he has had a good stock of carriages, &c., made in the best style, and at reasonable prices.

Thankful for past favors, he solicits a share of public patronage.

His long experience of eighteen years in the business in this city justifies him in saying that his work is not inferior to any other.

He is now ready to make a carriage, and in the best manner.

Remarking all the shortness now, and in the best manner.

W. P. SHEPARD.

CARRIAGES! CARRIAGES!!

I. F. STONE,

Carriage Dealer, 609 Main Street,

Louisville, Ky.

I. F. STONE WOULD RESPECTfully inform his customers and the public generally that his stock for the spring trade is now complete, comprising the finest assortment of carriages ever offered in this market, including the following:

Brisket, Side Seats, Baggage, Shifting Top, do, Coach, Rockaway, do, Concourse, do, York Van, do, etc.

In the East, I would like to give my personal inspection, and superintendence to the manufacture of the a-c-e, and to procure the new styles emanating from Europe.

Particular attention is directed to my assessment of driving Buggies, as I have some of the finest ever brought here.

Our goods are well made, and in the best manner.

For further particulars, apply to me at Louisville, during the day, or to Mr. J. D. COLEMAN, or Mr. Levi Taylor, Esq.

J. D. COLEMAN.

Hotel for Lease.

THE UNDERSIGNED HAVE-ing just engaged the St. Charles Hotel, in the best part of the city, adjoining Louisville, offers it for lease to a good house-keeper, for a term of years.

This hotel is a large and commodious structure, constructed upon the most modern and improved plans, with every arrangement for the convenience, entertainment, &c., of the traveler.

It is situated on the principal cross street of the place,
the business being conducted in the best manner.

The hotel is well supplied with all kinds of luxury, rooms which are light, well ventilated and airy, and the best furniture.

It is a large, comfortable building, nothing handsome laid out with shrubbery, and affording a pleasant view.

There are two large dining-rooms, in Portland are too apt to be mentioned. There is now no first class of persons daily arriving there is enormous. Many of them could find accommodation, would stop in Portland, and establish a public house at once upon a firm basis, and another who could not afford accommodation terms.

Apply for particular, address to, or to my self.

PAUL VILLE, Esq., Portland, Ky.

The Taylor Iron Works for Sale.

THE ELEGANT ROLLING MILL, in Newport, Ky., is now offered for sale. It is a heavy rolling mill, 100 ft. long by 15 ft. wide, has no engine or power, cylin. & gear, & 8 ft. stock with pump motor, we, bakers, &c., in complete order. Also, a small rolling mill, 10 ft. long by 10 ft. wide, has no pump or motor.

Barbour & Snowden,
Hydraulic Foundry,
Corner Washington and Hoy Streets.

Flooding Mill for Sale.

A FLOURING MILL WITH CA-PACITY to turn out about five hundred bushels per day situated in a fine wheat neighborhood, is offered for sale. For terms, &c., inquire of STH. M. & SON, 35 Wall st.

For Sale.

THREE BEAUTIFUL SITES FOR building country residences. Two of the sites are in the country, 1½ miles from the city, and the third is on the hill, overlooking the city.
Lots front the Bradfords turnpike, and contains about one acre each.

Each site is in the highest state of cultivation, and cannot be surpassed in eligibility of location. For terms, &c., inquire of the author of "Wheat and Barley" (Wheating Gazette, Wheeling Gazette, and Louisville Democrat) copy to amount of five dollars each and charge Gazette, Con. Gazette.

my self

GEORGE E. HEINSON.

For Sale.

THE DOUBLE TWO-STORY
Mansion Building on the southeast corner of Market and Fifth streets is offered for sale for one-half the original cost, or less, for one-half months credit, and very cheap. This building has
seven rooms in one of which is a large modified hall, and a back room, 12 ft. by 18 ft.

Building is conveniently arranged for one or two families, and is in a thriving part of the city.

Also, Farms and Lands for sale or exchanged for city
property, and a fine wagon and team for sale.

Apply to Mr. G. E. HEINSON, or to
J. H. DAWSON.

For Sale.

VALUABLE PROPERTY.
THE DOUBLE TWO-STORY
Mansion Building on the southeast corner of Market and Fifth streets, is now offered for sale for
one-half the original cost, or less, for one-half
months credit, and very cheap. This building has
seven rooms in one of which is a large modified hall, and a back room, 12 ft. by 18 ft.

Building is conveniently arranged for one or two families, and is in a thriving part of the city.

Also, Farms and Lands for sale or exchanged for city
property, and a fine wagon and team for sale.

Apply to Mr. G. E. HEINSON, or to
J. H. DAWSON.

For Sale.

THE DOUBLE TWO-STORY
Mansion Building on the southeast corner of Market and Fifth streets, is now offered for sale for
one-half the original cost, or less, for one-half
months credit, and very cheap. This building has
seven rooms in one of which is a large modified hall, and a back room, 12 ft. by 18 ft.

Building is conveniently arranged for one or two families, and is in a thriving part of the city.

Also, Farms and Lands for sale or exchanged for city
property, and a fine wagon and team for sale.

Apply to Mr. G. E. HEINSON, or to
J. H. DAWSON.

For Sale.

THE DOUBLE TWO-STORY
Mansion Building on the southeast corner of Market and Fifth streets, is now offered for sale for
one-half the original cost, or less, for one-half
months credit, and very cheap. This building has
seven rooms in one of which is a large modified hall, and a back room, 12 ft. by 18 ft.

Building is conveniently arranged for one or two families, and is in a thriving part of the city.

Also, Farms and Lands for sale or exchanged for city
property, and a fine wagon and team for sale.

Apply to Mr. G. E. HEINSON, or to
J. H. DAWSON.

For Sale.

THE DOUBLE TWO-STORY
Mansion Building on the southeast corner of Market and Fifth streets, is now offered for sale for
one-half the original cost, or less, for one-half
months credit, and very cheap. This building has
seven rooms in one of which is a large modified hall, and a back room, 12 ft. by 18 ft.

Building is conveniently arranged for one or two families, and is in a thriving part of the city.

Also, Farms and Lands for sale or exchanged for city
property, and a fine wagon and team for sale.

Apply to Mr. G. E. HEINSON, or to
J. H. DAWSON.

For Sale.

THE DOUBLE TWO-STORY
Mansion Building on the southeast corner of Market and Fifth streets, is now offered for sale for
one-half the original cost, or less, for one-half
months credit, and very cheap. This building has
seven rooms in one of which is a large modified hall, and a back room, 12 ft. by 18 ft.

Building is conveniently arranged for one or two families, and is in a thriving part of the city.

Also, Farms and Lands for sale or exchanged for city
property, and a fine wagon and team for sale.

Apply to Mr. G. E. HEINSON, or to
J. H. DAWSON.

For Sale.

THE DOUBLE TWO-STORY
Mansion Building on the southeast corner of Market and Fifth streets, is now offered for sale for
one-half the original cost, or less, for one-half
months credit, and very cheap. This building has
seven rooms in one of which is a large modified hall, and a back room, 12 ft. by 18 ft.

Building is conveniently arranged for one or two families, and is in a thriving part of the city.

Also, Farms and Lands for sale or exchanged for city
property, and a fine wagon and team for sale.

Apply to Mr. G. E. HEINSON, or to
J. H. DAWSON.

For Sale.

THE DOUBLE TWO-STORY
Mansion Building on the southeast corner of Market and Fifth streets, is now offered for sale for
one-half the original cost, or less, for one-half
months credit, and very cheap. This building has
seven rooms in one of which is a large modified hall, and a back room, 12 ft. by 18 ft.

Building is conveniently arranged for one or two families, and is in a thriving part of the city.

Also, Farms and Lands for sale or exchanged for city
property, and a fine wagon and team for sale.

Apply to Mr. G. E. HEINSON, or to
J. H. DAWSON.

For Sale.

THE DOUBLE TWO-STORY
Mansion Building on the southeast corner of Market and Fifth streets, is now offered for sale for
one-half the original cost, or less, for one-half
months credit, and very cheap. This building has
seven rooms in one of which is a large modified hall, and a back room, 12 ft. by 18 ft.

Building is conveniently arranged for one or two families, and is in a thriving part of the city.

Also, Farms and Lands for sale or exchanged for city
property, and a fine wagon and team for sale.

Apply to Mr. G. E. HEINSON, or to
J. H. DAWSON.

For Sale.

THE DOUBLE TWO-STORY
Mansion Building on the southeast corner of Market and Fifth streets, is now offered for sale for
one-half the original cost, or less, for one-half
months credit, and very cheap. This building has
seven rooms in one of which is a large modified hall, and a back room, 12 ft. by 18 ft.

Building is conveniently arranged for one or two families, and is in a thriving part of the city.

Also, Farms and Lands for sale or exchanged for city
property, and a fine wagon and team for sale.

Apply to Mr. G. E. HEINSON, or to
J. H. DAWSON.

For Sale.

THE DOUBLE TWO-STORY
Mansion Building on the southeast corner of Market and Fifth streets, is now offered for sale for
one-half the original cost, or less, for one-half
months credit, and very cheap. This building has
seven rooms in one of which is a large modified hall, and a back room, 12 ft. by 18 ft.

Building is conveniently arranged for one or two families, and is in a thriving part of the city.

Also, Farms and Lands for sale or exchanged for city
property, and a fine wagon and team for sale.

Apply to Mr. G. E. HEINSON, or to
J. H. DAWSON.

For Sale.

THE DOUBLE TWO-STORY
Mansion Building on the southeast corner of Market and Fifth streets, is now offered for sale for
one-half the original cost, or less, for one-half
months credit, and very cheap. This building has
seven rooms in one of which is a large modified hall, and a back room, 12 ft. by 18 ft.

Building is conveniently arranged for one or two families, and is in a thriving part of the city.

Also, Farms and Lands for sale or exchanged for city
property, and a fine wagon and team for sale.

Apply to Mr. G. E. HEINSON, or to
J. H. DAWSON.

For Sale.

THE DOUBLE TWO-STORY
Mansion Building on the southeast corner of Market and Fifth streets, is now offered for sale for
one-half the original cost, or less, for one-half
months credit, and very cheap. This building has
seven rooms in one of which is a large modified hall, and a back room, 12 ft. by 18 ft.

Building is conveniently arranged for one or two families, and is in a thriving part of the city.

Also, Farms and Lands for sale or exchanged for city
property, and a fine wagon and team for sale.

Apply to Mr. G. E. HEINSON, or to
J. H. DAWSON.

For Sale.

THE DOUBLE TWO-STORY
Mansion Building on the southeast corner of Market and Fifth streets, is now offered for sale for
one-half the original cost, or less, for one-half
months credit, and very cheap. This building has
seven rooms in one of which is a large modified hall, and a back room, 12 ft. by 18 ft.

Building is conveniently arranged for one or two families, and is in a thriving part of the city.

Also, Farms and Lands for sale or exchanged for city
property, and a fine wagon and team for sale.

Apply to Mr. G. E. HEINSON, or to
J. H. DAWSON.

</